News, Updates and Aloha from O'ahu

(April 22, 2024, Quarter 2)

O'AHU — Welcome to O'ahu, where the spirit of aloha awaits at every turn! As Hawai'i's gathering place, O'ahu effortlessly weaves together elements of natural splendor, cultural richness and urban vibrancy, captivating visitors with its diverse array of experiences. Whether you're drawn to the sands of iconic Waikiki Beach, the island's many historical sites, the picturesque landscapes of the island's coastlines, or the lively experiences of metropolitan city life in Honolulu, O'ahu promises all who visit a blend of tropical allure and modern excitement.

This spring and summer, immerse yourself in O'ahu's warm hospitality and discover its newest attractions, events and offerings all awaiting your exploration!

The spring and summer are also a special time of year in the Hawaiian Islands as pupping season for endangered Hawaiian monk seals. Help protect our beloved Hawai'i state mammal by keeping a distance of at least 150 feet — about the length of a football field — from monk seal mothers and their pups. Pursuing and feeding endangered marine mammals such as the Hawaiian monk seal is prohibited by federal law. Do not attempt to touch, ride or feed monk seals or other marine mammals. Failure to comply with protections afforded to endangered species may result in fines.

Experience Authentic Hawaiian Hula, Mele and Culture in Vibrant Waikiki

Outrigger Waikiki Beach Resort

- Hula Grill at the Outrigger Waikiki Beach Resort recently launched a new live Hawaiian music series with performances from noon to 2 p.m. daily. Musicians performing include Ben Kama (Mondays), Kawika Kahiapo (Tuesdays), Ronson Asuncion (Wednesdays), Randy Allen (Thursdays), Yoza (Fridays), Uluwehi Young (Saturdays) and Stephen Inglis (Sundays). www.HulaGrillWaikiki.com

Waikiki Beach Marriott Resort & Spa

- Paina Waikiki Lū'au — Boosted by its success since launching in June 2023, the Paina Waikiki Lū'au has expanded to five nights a week with a new show on Saturday nights. A celebration of Hawaiian culture and history, the lū'au tells the site-specific narrative of Hawaiian royalty who once lived on the Waikiki land the resort is now located. Performers bring the story to life through original mele (songs), bula by award-winning dancers and artists, and exciting performances by world fire-knife champions and one of the youngest fire-knife dancers in the Islands.

- Traditional Featherwork Experience — In partnership with Nā Lima Mili Hulu No‘eau, a third-generation Hawaiian featherwork group, Waikīkī Beach Marriott Resort and Spa is now offering featherwork lessons at its cultural center as part of its Royal Legacies program honoring Hawaiian royalty that once resided on the grounds where the resort now stands. The featherwork group created many treasured feather lei and capes displayed at O‘ahu’s ‘Iolani Palace, Bishop Museum, Cathedral of St. Andrew and Kamehameha Schools.

Waikiki Beach Walk

- Mele Hali‘a, a monthly showcase featuring Hawaiian music performances, has returned to the Waikiki Beach Walk Plaza Stage. The meaning of the ‘ōlelo Hawai‘i (Hawaiian language) words mele hali‘a is “to recall music fondly.” And on one Sunday each month, Mele Hali‘a engages award-winning local musicians to play Hawaiian music live, sharing the genre’s vocal and instrumental traditions and folklore. All performances happen from 5 to 6 p.m. and are free and open to the public. www.WaikikiBeachWalk.com

Waikiki Starlight Luau

- New for 2024, Hilton Hawaiian Village Waikiki Beach Resort debuted a special fireworks edition of its popular Waikiki Starlight Luau. Held every Friday on the resort’s beachfront Great Lawn, the lū‘au treats guests to interactive Hawaiian games and cultural activities and a buffet of island-inspired cuisine. Tihati Productions and its cast of performers take guests on a journey across the South Pacific for the lū‘au’s live show. And the evening ends with quick access to some of the best views of the resort’s spectacular Friday night fireworks show on Duke Kahanamoku Beach. www.Hilton.com

MĀLAMA HAWAI‘I

Hula Grill Waikiki

- Hula Grill Waikiki recently launched its Mālama ‘Āina (“Care for the Land”) series featuring presentations about Hawai‘i’s wildlife, ecosystems and environmental issues, with a special focus on the ahupua‘a (Hawaiian land division) of Waikīkī. Series speakers share with guests a deeper understanding of their Hawai‘i surroundings and an appreciation for conservation and restoration efforts throughout the Islands. www.HulaGrillWaikiki.com

The Twin Fin Hotel

- The Parley Interactive Classroom is a new weekly poolside experience sharing knowledge with guests about how to protect the world’s oceans as they create unique art pieces from marine debris collected from Hawai‘i’s beaches. A large-scale example of the kind of creative repurposing taught in the classroom is The Wave, a large, wave-shaped art structure made from ocean plastic and Albizia wood (an invasive species to Hawai‘i), which can be found on permanent display in the hotel’s lobby. Classes are held on Mondays. www.TwinFinWaikiki.com

Romer Waikiki at The Ambassador

- Offered on the second Thursday of each month, the Romer Waikiki's Park Clean Up and Pau Hana is led by Romer's Mayor of the Block, inviting friends, community members and hotel guests to show neighboring King Kalākaua Park some TLC. The hotel worked with the City and County of Honolulu to adopt the park as its stewards and help keep it clean. Following the clean-up, guests with a wristband are invited to receive a free drink at Romer Waikiki's Waikiki Swim and Social Club. www.RomerHotels.com

Wild Side Specialty Tours

- Wild Side specialty tours offers its guests opportunities to not only observe but be an active participant in O'ahu's marine world. Wild Side offers ways for guests to mālama (care for) Hawai'i by engaging in citizen science onboard its marine wildlife tours. Guests take photos of whale flukes and dolphin dorsal fins to submit to conservation organizations for sustainable habitats. They record sightings of whale sharks, manta rays, Hawaiian monk seals and even coral bleaching for regenerative tourism efforts. In addition, guests retrieve and report marine debris crossing the tour's path, such as ghost nets. www.SailHawaii.com

SUPPORT LOCAL

Waialua Estate Coffee & Chocolate

- In collaboration with Laukahi, a nonprofit plant conservation network, Waialua Estate Coffee and Chocolate recently rebranded its chocolate bars with a goal of helping promote education and awareness about plant diversity in Hawai'i. Laukahi's and its partners' initiatives include plant propagation, field work protecting native habitats, and research to better inform their strategies. From farm to factory, Waialua Estate crafts chocolate utilizing a mix of cacao varieties grown and sourced from its North Shore O'ahu farm. www.WaialuaEstate.com

ACTIVITIES AND ATTRACTIONS

Ala Moana Center

- Ala Moana Center has added a new complimentary bula show to its Centerstage lineup featuring kabiko (traditional) and 'auana (modern) bula, happening every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5 p.m. The newest of Ala Moana Center's three bula shows, The Kamapua'a Show, was created by kumu bula (hula instructor) Kapua Dalire-Moe of Hālau Ka Liko Pua O Kalaniākea and spotlights several kolobe (mischievous or rascal) figures in Native Hawaiian culture and folklore. The Pele Show and The Kamehameha Show have remained hallmarks of Ala Moana Center's daily bula show offerings for nearly a decade and will continue to be a part of the Centerstage performance lineup. Ala Moana Center's three bula shows rotate throughout the week and happen daily. www.AlaMoanaCenter.com

Atlantis Adventures

Salā, Costume Designer Carrington Manaola Yap and Choreographer and Kumu Hula Hiwa Vaughan-Darval. Announcements regarding the show’s title, theme, schedule and ticket sales will be made this spring. www.CirqueDuSoleil.com.

Prince Waikiki

- Prince Waikiki aims to honor O‘ahu’s history and establish the island’s future for new generations of locals and visitors. The hotel’s Prince Commitment was created with a purpose of supporting the O‘ahu community. Guests can offer $1 for each night of their stay to improve Hawai‘i by supporting Prince Waikiki’s local partners such as Sustainable Coastlines Hawaii, Maui Relief Efforts, Make A Wish® Hawaii, the Honolulu Museum of Art and Anuenue School. www.PrinceWaikiki.com

Romer House Waikiki

- Romer House will debut in June as one of the first adults-only concept lodging properties on the island of O‘ahu. It will feature Japanese-Hawaiian inspired dining and entertainment, a rotating selection of local artwork, and a second-floor pool for socializing and relaxing without the kids. The hotel hopes to be a gathering place for visiting guests and the local community — with all-day dining and an innovative cocktail program — as well as an intimate retreat amid the vibrant energy of Waikīkī. www.RomerHotels.com

The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Waikiki Beach

- Keiki Concierge — The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Waikiki Beach resort is offering a new family amenity aimed at helping create memorable experiences for keiki (children). From curating thematic scavenger hunts around the property to arranging kid-approved adventures on O‘ahu, the resort’s Keiki Concierge is meant to ease itinerary planning for parents and delight children with special moments throughout their stay.

- Little Paddlers — Another new resort offering for families is the Little Paddlers surf program. Waikiki’s calm waters are ideal for keiki to catch waves. And this daytime activity includes a surf lesson with a certified instructor as well as snack boxes to enjoy afterwards. Every participant receives a framed certificate of completion as a keepsake of their accomplishment.

Wayfinder Waikiki

- This spring, Wayfinder Waikiki will debut the Wayfinder Lanai Suite — offering partial ocean and city views — and in the summer, two Penthouse Suites set atop the property. The hotel has also expanded its guest neighborhood perks program to include discounts with local partners, including Leahi Voyager, Gem Studio, Daniels Hawaii, Yoga Under the Palms, Island Picnic Co, Pink Sales, Bishop Museum, Moniz Surf School and more. Lost and Found, the hotel’s tropical speakeasy pool bar, is undergoing a revamp to offer a restyled look complemented by a new happy hour menu available daily from 5 to 7 p.m. featuring the full menu discounted at 50%. www.WayfinderHotels.com
